Startling Developments Expected in Pacific

KISKA SEEN AS LIKELY TARGET FOR NEW BLOW

WASHINGTON PUZZLED

Blast At Kurils, No Bombing Of Enemy Near Alaska Stirs Speculation

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16—Startling new developments in the Pacific war today were expected momentarily following American and United Nations successes in the south and Southwest Pacific.

The ominous lull in news from the North Pacific was carried into the third week and speculations continued on whether American forces would invade Japanese-held Kiska in time to crush the enemy before bad weather sets in.

Most startling development in the Southwest Pacific area was the 2,500-mile bombing raid against the important Japanese-held port of Balikpapan in Borneo.

The raid demonstrated the expanding American air-offensive which was hitting the Axis on raids with a round-trip total of as many as 2,600 miles.

Poised For Attack

The lack of news from the north Pacific raised the possibility that American forces were awaiting clear weather before they resumed their pre-invasion blows against the enemy's last stronghold in the western Aleutians.

The Japanese on Kiska have been cut off from supplies and reinforcements since American forces took over the American-held island of Attu, 200 miles to the west.

Since the successful recapture of Attu island, there has been (Continued on Page Two)

DEATH PENALTY DEMANDED FOR KILLER, AGE 13

FISHKILL, N. Y., Aug. 16—A first degree murder indictment which upon conviction carries a maximum penalty of death will be sought against 13-year-old Edwin Codarre, charged with the attack-murder of Elizabeth Voight, 10.

The first steps in sending the youth to the chair will be taken later today when he is brought before Judge Ralph Warren for a hearing in East Fishkill.

Young Codarre is alleged to have slain the girl while the two were out for a walk. Police said he admitted battering Elizabeth's head and face with a rock "when she cried."

Authorities said that despite the boy's youth every effort will be made to prosecute him to the full extent of the law.

Eyes of World Turn On Decisions for Victory In Making At Quebec

QUEBEC, Que., Aug. 16—The return to Quebec of British Prime Minister Churchill and the presence of the joint general military staffs here today spelled the beginning of what may well be the most important week of World War II.

Great Britain and the United States stood on the threshold of military and international political decisions designed to carry the war nearer a victorious conclusion, and at the same time assure re-occu-

CAPT. R. E. Gerard, above, of Lake Charles, La., together with Lieut. Louis P. Testa took the islands of Favignana, Levanzo and Maritimo for Uncle Sam at the cost of only three dollars. For that sum the two hired a boat for their Mediterranean expedition. Capture of the islands netted 1,027 prisoners, nine small tanks and a large quantity of arms.

War, Navy Departments Approve Proposal For 1944 Election

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16—Sen. Theodore Green (D) Rhode Island, chairman of the senate elections committee, said today that War and Navy departments have approved proposals for V-mail voting by soldiers and sailors in the 1944 presidential election.

"I have talked with officials and been informed that the method set out in the Green-Lucas bill is satisfactory," said Green.

A senate elections sub-committee plans to conduct hearings on the measure next month with a view to speeding enactment of legislation so that upwards of 3,000,000 service voters who may be overseas next year can vote.

ELEANOR GIVES HER VERSION OF PROPER WORLD

P 1-14—Eleanor Gives... NEW YORK, Aug. 16—Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt today maintained that there will be "fewer bad people" if justice, economic and education opportunities are open to all.

Appealing for an end to racial and religious discrimination, in a broadcast discussion on "unity at home, victory abroad," the wife of the nation's chief executive said: "We are not the judges of what makes men equal, but we of all people should not say that the people of one race or one color are better than any others. Our concern is that every race and every color and every human being shall have an equal opportunity to develop in each generation to the limit of their ability."

OPA CLAIM OF LOWER LIVING COST DISPUTED

Roll-Back In Meat Price Failed To Reach Public, Economists Say

SEASONAL INDEX CITED

Credit For Reduction In Vegetables And Fruits Given To Summer

WASHINGTON, Aug. 16—The OPA's claim that the cost of living has dropped was disputed today by labor economists who foresee a tremendous pressure for higher food prices in the Fall which will call for drastic administration action.

While not disputing the bureau of labor statistics' report that cost of living dropped .8 of one percent in one month, labor economists say that the drop is more apparent than real.

"Our reaction with reference to the statistics is that they are not adjusted according to seasonal fluctuations," said Boris Shishkin, economist of the American Federation of Labor.

Seasonal declines in vegetable prices always are recorded in mid-Summer, he explained. However, he said, OPA set price ceilings on vegetables last February when prices usually are higher, so that while prices may have dropped they did not decline as much as they should.

Little Public Benefit The OPA claimed that the 10 percent roll-back subsidy cut in meat and butter prices caused a drop in the cost of living, Shishkin, however, said that his reports show that this proposed cut did not actually reach the consumer.

This, he said, is due to black market operations and the community-wide system of prices under which there can be much price juggling by individual retailers.

The fruit and vegetable price declines, he said, also are chiefly in areas of great production such as California, and are not fully reflected in the great consuming centers such as New York, Pennsylvania and Michigan.

Ceilings Maintained

Despite repeated appeals, Shishkin said, the War Food Administration has not agreed to a readjustment downward of vegetable ceiling prices to fit in with seasonal conditions. Nor, he said, have ceilings been placed on live animals.

"Military demands for canned goods has created considerable pressure for higher prices," he said. "Declines on prices of meat, butter and coffee have not been appreciable and cannot be with respect to meat until ceilings are placed on livestock."

"If we are to have stability, there must be drastic action in the near future and there must be greater use of subsidies."

Some congressional "farm bloc" member said that OPA would be called on to explain why statistical reports do not show a 10 percent drop in meat and butter prices to consumers, when this was the object of the roll-back subsidy which caused such a bitter fight in congress.

ALLIES READY WITH GAS IF AXIS USES IT

CHICAGO, Aug. 16—Allied troops everywhere are "ready and able" to mark upon gas warfare if the enemy undertakes the use of gas, Brig. Gen. Charles E. Loucks declared today.

Gen. Loucks, commanding general of the Rocky Mountain arsenal of chemical warfare, was in Chicago inspecting chemical warfare equipment produced here, while on his way to Washington, D. C.

"All Allied troops," he said, "have full gas warfare equipment overseas and we can retaliate at once should the enemy use gas."

Young Killer And Victims

HENRY William Hagert, age 17, shown handcuffed to a detective, at top above, not only killed the 13-year-old twins shown below, Charles and James Collins, but has confessed a third murder at Cleveland where he is under arrest. Police Monday were dragging the Cuyahoga river for the body of Edgar Bowen, age 15, missing since March 15 when Hagert says he shot him. He said he weighted the body with railroad spikes and threw it into the river.

Young Killer Admits Third Murder; Police Drag River for Body

CLEVELAND, Aug. 16—Police today dragged the Cuyahoga river for the body of a 15-year-old boy believed to be the third victim of a murder rampage by a 17-year-old reform school parolee.

Henry William Hagert, already accused of the murder of two 13-year-old twins and the kidnapping and criminal attack of a nine-year-old boy, also has confessed the slaying of Edgar Bowen, 15, missing from his grandmother's home on Cleveland's west side since March 15, Detective Inspector Frank S. Story said.

Hagert, according to Story, admitted shooting the boy, weighting the body with railroad spikes, and dropping it into the Cuyahoga river.

The 17-year-old former psychopathic patient at Cleveland City hospital had been arrested on a newspaper reporter's tip in connection with the kidnapping attack of nine-year-old Jack Buchanan. Under a lie detector test, he admitted the shooting of Charles and James Collins, 13-year-old twins, and led police to where he had hidden their bodies.

Hagert assertedly told police he picked up the twins as they were hitch-hiking their way to a golf course to caddy, and shot them to death "just for the heck of it."

Hagert will be arraigned August 25 before Judge Homer W. Hammond in juvenile court on a charge of delinquency involving murder. The charge was preferred by Inspector Story.

Meanwhile, police reported that by the thin margin of a traffic light's change from green to red, a 12-year-old Lakewood boy prob-

Prisoners Shot Down By Nazis

Men And Women Killed Ruthlessly To Rid Huns Of Responsibility

(Editor's note: The Germans methodically executed prisoners of war in the Orel area to rid themselves of the burden of caring for the captives. International News Service Staff correspondent Natalia Rene was told on a visit to the area recently reclaimed by the Red army. The correspondent tells in the following dispatch of slaying huge trenches used by the Nazis for mass burials and of the horrors which the Russians relate were inflicted on their people by the invader.)

By NATALIA RENE

MOSCOW, Aug. 16—Russia can count towns and hamlets by the thousands which have suffered the grim fate visited on tiny Lidice, the Czech village which was completely destroyed and its inhabitants slain, eyewitnesses reported during a tour of the recaptured Orel area.

Men and women prisoners were put to death ruthlessly on periodic days set aside for executions, this correspondent was told.

I stood close to a huge trench at Orel used by the Germans for burying prisoners of war, dead from starvation or as a result of being shot.

With me was a young Russian officer with clear, honest, boyish eyes and with only a grim wrinkle near his lips to indicate what he had seen and lived through in this war. He said:

"Much was written in the world press about the fate of Lidice but we have thousands of Lidices and millions of victims and well understand what the Germans are capable of doing. I know that it is difficult for human nature to comprehend the evil the Germans have done, but one must understand that the Germans in war always have been inhuman and that a whole generation of young animals has been fostered by the Hitler regime."

The scene that we saw was difficult to describe. We gazed at a partly dug trench in which some 200 bodies were piled in a heap, covered with rags. The positions of the dead indicated that they had died in agony.

Professor Voropayev, the surgeon heading the work of exhumation, showed us several skulls, including that of a woman with a bullet through the rear of the head. Witnesses told us that shootings of prisoners in the Orel prison had been carried out methodically on Tuesdays and Fridays.

One soldier walked in front of a condemned man, another behind him, we were told. When they reached a wall the soldier in front stepped aside and the soldier behind pushed the victim and simultaneously shot him in the back of the neck.

Another method of shooting was used mostly for women, the victim was ordered to lie down and cover her face with her hands. Then she, too, was shot in the back of the neck.

A study of the track left by bullets proved that this was the method used, the surgeon explained.

Most of the victims cannot be identified. The remains of one woman were partly identified through a brief case lying nearby. The case contained a few little personal items, some sheet music and a passport indicating it had belonged to Adalvia Be-

YANKS, BRITISH SMASH AHEAD AND NAZIS RUN

CITY'S FALL DRAWS NEAR

Milan Blasted Once More By RAF—Three Mighty Red Armies Advance

By International News Service Allied armies in northeastern Sicily today smashed to within artillery range of the evacuation port of Messina and the Italian mainland after scoring spectacular weekend gains against the Germans and Italians and an authoritative source declared the end of operations in Sicily is imminent.

The British Eighth army drove rapidly northward after seizing Taormina, former Axis military headquarters 27 miles south of Messina, and in an inland sweep overran the towns of Kaggi and Castiglione.

America's Seventh army gained positions within 18 air miles of Messina along the north coast as Lieut. Gen. George S. Patton's troops pushed steadily eastward to the Milazzao area.

Noose Tightens

The advancing American and British forces tightened a strangulation noose on the enemy trapped in the northeastern corner of Sicily with spectacular rapidity as the Germans accelerated their efforts to evacuate across the Messina straits under punishing Allied aerial and naval blows.

The rapid retreat of the Germans turned from an orderly withdrawal over the week end into speedy flight which in some sectors amounted to a rout.

Captured documents disclosed that two Italian coastal regiments had been given orders to hold a last foothold running 18 miles south of Messina and five miles inland to cover the German Dunkirk evacuation. The holding line consists of a series of hedgehog defense points forming a ring of defense around Messina over a five mile radius from the outskirts of the port.

Huns on Run

With the Germans definitely on the run it is believed at headquarters that Italian resistance, as has been the case heretofore, will be hap-hazard and that a complete crackup will come shortly.

With Messina under artillery fire from American long-range guns the evacuation efforts of the Germans will be further handicapped. The possibility also was seen that the Italians, angered at (Continued on Page Two)

Eleven Pickaway county men were accepted for training in the U. being sacrificed to save the Germans, may hoist the white flag of unconditional surrender everywhere to get even with the Nazis still remaining on the island.

Although rapid forward drives by both the American and British armies are reducing the mileage to Messina steadily, some leftover German rear-guard units are able to take advantage of the rugged terrain and can slow up the push at some points by demolitions and continued planting of minefields.

The final cleanup and occupation of Messina, however, appeared no more distant than a day or two.

Headquarters revealed that since the invasion of Sicily the Seventh army has captured or destroyed 293 75 mm. or larger guns, and 185 tanks of all types.

Nazis In Disguise

The sudden dissipation of the German forces into the evacuation race was indicated by the capture by Americans of many Germans disguised as civilians seeking to escape from north coast ports. Despite the efforts of the Allies it is believed that large portions of the enemy have been able to get away successfully.

The moment the Eighth army smashed its way past Taormina the Seventh army ripped into the Milazzo area and the Germans knew the jig was up and that both Allied armies thence could overlook and isolate their strong points in the race forward along the highways on both coasts toward Messina.

Whether whole German combat units will be trapped and captured in the east on the beaches before they can get across the straits remains to be seen. The Allied air force and the naval cordon around northeast Sicily is doing its utmost to crack down on any further escapes and with Allied shells able for the first time to rock the mainland itself the doom of these Axis forces appears near.

Entry of the British into Taormina and the American advance in the north was made in an official communique from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Milan Blasted

In Italy, meanwhile, giant RAF bombers blasted Milan again early today for the third time in four nights as Swiss dispatches said tens of thousands of residents are fleeing the city in panic.

The Swiss radio said waves of British bombers attacked Milan from midnight until 12:55 a. m., then after a 15-minute lull resumed the assault with greater violence until 1:20 a. m. besides dropping large caliber bombs in the city itself, this source said, the suburbs also were hit, particularly Brienza.

Exchange Telegraph said eyewitnesses disclosed complete collapse of the civil administration in Milan, halting of all train service in and out of the city, stopping of all industry and shutting off of gas, electricity, telephone and telegraph service.

Bombing Continues

Observers on the English channel coast reported large formations of heavy bombers, believed to include American Flying Fortresses, roared toward France an hour and a half after another big force of Allied warplanes crossed the channel, flying in the direction of Dieppe, escorted by large numbers of fighters.

Earlier, Flying Fortresses, Thunderbolts and Spitfires executed a night sweep over western Europe in which the Forts, attacking in darkness for the first time, assaulted airdromes at Poix, Amiens, Vitry-en-Artois, Lille and Merville in France and Vlissingen in Holland, all important German fighter bases.

The Nazi air force retaliated with sharp raids during the night on two coastal towns in southern England, where air raid wardens rescued civilians buried in the debris of their wrecked working-class homes. Two of the 25 enemy planes were shot down. Twelve persons were reported killed. DNB, German news agency, said Portsmouth was one of the towns attacked.

Russ Move Ahead

In Russia, three mighty Red army drives continued to roll westward towards the Nazi bastions of Smolensk, Bryansk and Poltava.

Victorious Russian armored units crashed forward from captured Karachev, last German stronghold east of Bryansk on the Orel-Bryansk railroad, while to the north new Russian gains in the Spas Demensk sector threatened to cut the Nazi-held Bryansk-Smolensk railway.

The German rearguard in Kharkov, at the southern end of the current 500-mile fighting zone, fought advancing Soviets from street to street in the northeast corner of the city and blew up all military installations. Meanwhile the main body of Germans fled through a narrow escape corridor on the southwest now imperiled by a Russian crossing of the Donets river southwest of Kharkov.

vealed only when the United Nations armies once again go on the move—toward Berlin, toward Tokyo and toward crumbling Rome.

The announcement of the preliminary three-day conferences between President Roosevelt and the British prime minister at Hyde Park was revealed in a brief White House statement.

It said that Churchill was accompanied by his daughter, Mary, a subaltern in Britain's auxiliary territorial service and that they were the guests of President and Mrs. Roosevelt. It added that the chief executive would join the Quebec conference this week.

While the Hyde Park visit of the prime minister and his daughter was described as being primarily social in character, it is presumed that the two Allied leaders spent the time working on the broad plans of global strategy which will be presented to the combined chiefs of staff on the arrival of Mr. Roosevelt in the Canadian city.

ROPER'S LEARN NEPHEW SAFE IN PRISON CAMP

Mr. and Mrs. Eli Roper, Pinckney street, have been notified that their nephew, Captain George Kappes of Zanesville, a West Point graduate, who was captured by the Japs when Corregidor fell, is in excellent health in Jap prison camp No. 1 in the Philippine islands.

News from Captain Kappes came in the form of a card in the captain's own handwriting which said that he is in good health, has not been disabled, and which asks that his wife take good care of their daughter, Ruth, 2, whom he has never seen.

Mrs. Kappes was with Captain Kappes prior to the outbreak of war, but left the Philippines before Pearl Harbor. The child was born at sea.

The card from Captain Kappes was the first direct word from him in 16 months. The government learned through Red Cross a year ago that he was a prisoner of war.

Captain Kappes had visited in Circleville numerous times prior to his assignment to the Philippines.

considerable speculation in official quarters as to the possibility that American forces would move to knock the Japanese off Kiska.

Any invasion of Kiska island will have to be undertaken within the next two or three weeks if the U. S. forces hope to knock out the Japanese before the bad weather sets in early in October.

The invasion of Attu island took almost a month despite the fact that there were only 3,000 Japanese troops on that enemy-held base.

The possible invasion of Kiska would entail more effort on the part of American forces because the Japanese garrison on that island has been estimated at 10,000 troops.

Capital Puzzled

Official quarters in Washington have been puzzled recently by the fact that American bombers could fly from the Aleutians to blast the Japanese Kurils and yet there has been no report of any recent bombing attack against Kiska.

It was recalled that during April American planes from bases in the western Aleutians blasted Kiska 145 times in a single month. During July there were eight naval bombardments and 61 air attacks but since that time there have been no reports of American activities in that area.

Meanwhile, the navy yesterday reported the loss of the 1,700-ton U. S. destroyer Maddox, the submarine Pickrel, and four smaller warships in widely-scattered operations.

Two vessels were lost during the invasion of Sicily. These were the Maddox and the minesweeper Sentinel. Two others—the submarine PC-496 and the submarine rescue ship Redwing—were lost in the Mediterranean in June.

The navy said the 1,330-ton Pickrel had failed to return from patrol duty "and must be presumed to be lost." No disclosure of its sphere of operations was made, but it was believed the submarine operated in the Pacific area.

The 2,285-ton gunboat Plymouth was sunk off the North Carolina coast following an underwater explosion.

The navy gave no information on the total casualties. The six vessels, however, carried a total normal complement of 614 men.

Voting days in advance of the regular election day would be held in overseas army camps and on warships.

The commanding officers of units would be made responsible for supervision of the soldier-sailor election.

While ballots presumably would be returned to the United States for counting on election day, the bill permits them to be counted if received within two weeks after the election.

Unexpected delays in receipt of ballots of hundreds of thousands of soldiers and sailors thus might result in the people being kept in suspense over election of a President for more than two weeks.

ERROL DENIES MARRIAGE

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 16—Movie Actor Errol Flynn's denial that he has married Nora Edington of Los Angeles was seconded today by the lady herself. "It is untrue that I am married to Mr. Flynn," she was quoted as saying. "I am only his private secretary." Examination of the civil records at Acapulco was said to have failed to disclose any such marriage.

BRIDGE WRECKED BY U. S. PLANES

THE INGENUITY OF U. S. ARMY AIRMEN is causing Mr. Tojo many headaches. While flying over Burma in P-40 pursuit ships, our men spotted the bridge (top) used by the Japs to transport war goods. Converting their light planes into bombers capable of toting heavy bombs, some of which are seen dropping, they neatly severed the link (bottom). This is a U. S. Army photo. (International)

A honey-toned beige English wool sponge for this softly tailored frock, which features a set-in wide waistline, fly front blouse with convertible collar, fake flap pockets.

NOTHING stark or stinky about this shirtmaker frock which demonstrates wartime necessity for smartness that avoids chichi and a limited role in the wardrobe. Becoming to all types and heights of figure, slender without being sausage case difficult, it's our favorite American fashion skillfully cut from a minimum of fabric and bedizened with discretion to take it out of any flat uniform look. The big shiny gilt buttons are a fad of the famous New York creator who turned out this honey for the coming season.

Little But So Important

[T will be no hardship whatever to leap from scraps of summer hat (or no hat whatever) to the new millinery for seasons just ahead. Shapes have vanished to the irreducible minimum throughout all the collections, even if a percentage of larger models is included for diehards.

Light, bright hats, with many a posy trim, fluttering ostrich feather, glittering sequin or bead embroidery, promise a new millinery deal for sombre winter ensembles. Every woman, however, will have to figure out herself how to warm the back of her head. The hats won't: they perch up front over the brows.

Stiffened lace veiling piled in Spanish comb effect, sprinkled with large multi-colored sequins, nestled in tiny black velvet bows, for the evening, left. Above, bisque pink satin and black velvet combine for a Spanish sailor with two pink camellias dangling down behind, on their stems.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

By DREW PEARSON

Add Wash merry go round done much fighting, Russia intended to write the terms of peace. This is one big phase of the problem Roosevelt and Churchill face in Canada.

CASABLANCA DECISION

2. The second phase of this personal diagnosis is my opinion of what happened at Casablanca. There all sides agreed in principle on a second front in France, but when it came to practice the moot point arose as to what proportion of British troops, what proportion of American troops should make up the invasion army.

Churchill has always opposed a mass sacrifice of British manpower, has pointed to the cream of British youth lost in the last war. Has diplomatically suggested that American manpower, with a population of 130,000,000 was much greater than Britain's 30,000,000. Heavy British losses, he has reasoned, would set England back a whole generation. Therefore, Churchill at Casablanca undoubtedly wanted the invasion army to be about 70 percent American troops, 30 percent British, subject to shipping U. S. troops to England in large enough quantities. Roosevelt probably agreed. However, the submarine situation all last Winter was not as favorable as today, so obviously it was impossible to ship all the troops we wanted to England.

SECOND FRONT—WHERE?

3. The third chapter came during the May-June conference between Roosevelt and Churchill. By this time we had all of North Africa and had to decide whether to push ahead with a second front in the Mediterranean or a second front in France. If in France, it would be necessary for the Allies to use a larger proportion of British troops than Americans. Because we had not been able to ship enough to England, probably the ratio, instead of being 70 percent American and 30 percent British, would have been nearer 30 percent American and 70 percent British.

Another vital factor also entered the June picture. Until then, the Allies had not had sufficient bomber strength in England to really punish enemy industry. We were just beginning to go to town. So, after prolonged debates, the Churchill thesis finally was adopted—striking at the "soft under-belly of the Axis" through the Mediterranean islands and waiting for an invasion through France until (1) we could really blast Germany from the air and (2) build up U. S. troop reserves in England.

U. S. war chiefs have never been too enthusiastic about the "soft under-belly" approach. They think it nibbling at the fringes of the enemy instead of striking at the heart. However, they probably underestimated one thing—the political repercussions of the Mediterranean invasion.

Churchill, the politician, knew better than the military what the effect would be of overrunning Sicily. Not only has this action been reverberating, but the advances to date have been much greater than anyone estimated. Churchill has talked about invasion when the leaves fall. Today the Allies are far ahead of schedule. That is reason No. 1 for the Churchill-Roosevelt meeting.

BIRDIES MOVE TO LONE GAME BEHIND BREWS

By International News Service
With the Columbus Red Birds only a game behind the Milwaukee Brewers and the Indianapolis Indians only two games back of the Flock, it's still anybody's pennant in the American Association.

The Birds and the Tribe both captured double-headers yesterday while the Brewers dropped a twin bill to Louisville.

Columbus came within one hit of a 11-year-old record when the Birds battered out 31 hits to rout Minneapolis in the first game, 22-5. Included were six doubles, two triplets and a home run for a total of 44 bases. The Birds came from behind to take the afterpiece, 5-4, after the Millers had piled up a four-run lead in the first two stanzas.

Louisville meanwhile handed the loop-leading Brewers a pair of setbacks, 10-1 and 2-1, with the scheduled seven-inning nightcap going two extra innings.

Jim Trexler won his 15th game of the season as Indianapolis shut out Kansas City, 6-0, in the finale after taking the opener, 4-3. Trexler allowed only four hits. The 12-inning opener was ended when Stewart Hofferth poled a long double, scoring Joe Moore.

Toledo took a pair of close ones from St. Paul, 5-3 and 3-2.

A new course of action must be charted. Reason No. 2 is the desirability at last of meeting the demands of Russia on opening a front in France.

Several things have happened since June. The political morale of the Axis is shattered. Its industry, thanks to Allied air power, is also shattered. It might be possible to win a victory by continued air pounding without the loss of lives from old-fashioned land warfare, or on the other hand the moment may have arrived for a land invasion which will tip the scales and bring victory in Europe this Winter. These are the difficult decisions awaiting the President and the Prime Minister.

Junior R.O.T.C. Men To Resume School Work; May Play On Grid Team

By Davis J. Walsh
CHICAGO, Aug. 16 — It isn't generally known yet, except to a few commanders and athletic directors who have been officially apprised of the change. But, anyhow, there's a War Department order that has gone through which would materially benefit college football this year, especially at those colleges that need more help right now than a man going over Niagara Falls in a test tube.

Briefly, the order is that all members of the junior class enrolled in the R. O. T. C. (Reserve Officers Training Corps) are to be returned forthwith to the campuses from which they emanated. It is suspected that a certain number of those affected will be men with football ability of greater or less degree.

Suspecting is as far as anybody cares to go at this stage, however. For one thing, it may be that the earlier War Department order which bars regular army trainees from participation in college sports will likewise apply to these reservists.

For another, nobody knows how many . . . if any . . . R. O. T. C. men of the junior class will be returned to their original colleges in time to be any use to a football season.

Of course, there are those Marine and Navy V-12 program colleges who wouldn't be much interested, anyhow.

Notre Dame, for example, which is understood to have more football players (Marine and Navy trainees) than Rockne ever heard of. Or Michigan, said to be stocked like a trout run, not to forget that Northwestern is alleged to have quite a few of Minnesota's ex-Gophers and that Purdue could run through signals with all the first flight men it fell heir to from the University of Missouri.

Reports in this connection from the East and South are inconclusive, so that, sectionally, the one certain beneficiary . . . if any . . . of the new order would be the west coast, where college football material is understood to be outstandingly sparse.

However, with no personal line

PANCHO SEGURA, 'FRISCO LASSIE WIN IN TENNIS

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 16—Francisco (Pancho) Segura, of Guayaquil, Ecuador, sensational exponent of the two-hand drive, and Miss Margaret Osborne of San Francisco reigned today the new eastern turf court tennis champions.

Maintaining his winning streak the little South American defeated Lieut. (j. g.) Joe Hunt of the United States navy, 6-4, 6-1, 6-3, in the final round of the tournament at the Westchester Country Club.

Miss Osborne easily dispatched Miss Doris Hart of Miami, Fla., 6-2, 6-4 following up her victory over Miss Pauline Betz, the national champion in the semi-finals.

The men's doubles championship went to Hunt and Ensign Ted Schroeder, the national singles champions. They defeated Segura and Sidney Wood in the final, 4-6, 6-4, 3-6, 6-4, 6-2.

Miss Osborne and Miss Louise Brough, the national titleholders, were beaten in the women's doubles final by Miss Betz and Miss Hart, 6-4, 11-9.

MAJOR LEAGUE GAMES MARKED BY HOME RUNS

DiMaggio, Williams, Other Not Missed As Long Blows Ring Out

By JOHN CASHMAN

NEW YORK, Aug. 16—They say that the game suffered when the powerhouse boys like Joe DiMaggio and Ted Williams went into the service. Perhaps the 1943 brand of baseball is a shade less colorful without the presence of these noble performers, but it certainly couldn't be noticed yesterday.

Yesterday was home run day. Circuit clouts were swatted all over the lot in both leagues. For instance, the New York Yankees whipped the Chicago White Sox, 7 to 2, in the opener of a double-header, then dropped the nightcap, 4 to 3, in eight innings. Four home runs were clouted in the first game, and three in the second.

Charley Keller, Bill Johnson, Tom Turner and Wally Moses all connected in the opener. In the nightcap, homers were blasted by Nick Etten, Joey Kuhel and Vince Castino.

Rudy York raised his homer total to 23 by whacking two at the Detroit Tigers handed the Philadelphia Athletics a double thrashing, 5 to 4, in 11 innings, and 3 to 2. York's homers were blasted in the first game, the second circuit clout clinching the contest. Tommy Bridges hurled a six-hitter in the nightcap as Bob Harris homered in the second inning.

The twin loss stretched the A's losing streak to 10 straight. When the Boston Red Sox pinned a double defeat on the Louis Browns, 3 to 2 and 4 to 0, they started the performance with something just as thrilling as a flock of homers—a double steal. The theft was accomplished in the sixth inning of the opener as break a 2-all tie.

The Cleveland Indians hammered the Washington Senators, 6 to 2, in the opener, then topped the nightcap, 4 to 0. A pair of two-run rallies, in the sixth and ninth, spelled defeat for the Indians in the nightcap.

Moving over to the National League, the Chicago Cubs took sixth place in the league standings and dropped the Philadelphia Phillies into seventh, by administering a pair of defeats to the Philadelphians, 5 to 2 and 3 to 0. The two losses ran the Phillies' losing streak to four straight.

Truett (Ripp) Sewell chalked up his 18th victory of the season when the Pittsburgh Pirates took the nightcap, 11 to 1, after the Boston Braves won the opener, 5 to 1. Tom O'Brien homered in the first contest.

The New York Giants looked pretty bad as they dropped two to the Cincinnati Reds, 5 to 4 and 6 to 5. The twin bill was marred by a flock of New Yorkers left on base, plus a few errors.

The Brooklyn Dodgers got up off the ground after taking an 11 to 3 beating from the St.

Land Army Helps Relieve Labor Shortage On County's Farms

BOYS AND GIRLS PICK POTATOES AND SNAP CORN

30 Circleville High School Pupils Play Important Roles In Harvest

OSTLOW HEADS PROGRAM

New Holland School Chief Does Outstanding Job As Recruiter

Farm labor shortages caused by a rush of work at this particular season of the year are being alleviated by a volunteer "Land Army" being recruited in Circleville by Harold (Bud) Costlow, superintendent of New Holland schools, who has been working for the last month as an aide to F. K. Blair, county agent.

Mr. Costlow said Monday that approximately 30 Circleville boys and girls of high school age have worked on farms in the last several days, girls helping out by picking potatoes on a farm where a big crop was to be harvested with no pickers available.

The boys, all of high school age, have been busy jerking corn and doing other work which might not have been done on several farms of the district if the "Land Army" had not been available.

"Doing Grand Job"

"These youngsters have been doing a grand job," Mr. Costlow said, "and farmers for whom they have been employed are more than pleased with their efforts. They have been working to the best of their limited ability since none has any experience on a farm. Reports you sometimes hear that city youngsters do nothing but play when they go to farms to work can be marked off as untrue, at least so far as these boys and girls are concerned."

The school man started only a week ago to line up the "Land Army" and he has been successful, cooperation being excellent. Some of the youths helping in the harvest have other jobs, but they are finding time also to help on the farms.

Assists Blair

Mr. Costlow went into Mr. Blair's office when the Agricultural Extension service took over the job of finding permanent farm laborers to assist farmers of Pickaway county. The school man said Monday that eight or 10 farms have been provided permanent help through the program handled by the extension service.

The "Land Army" unit is not completely organized as yet, Mr. Costlow said, more boys and girls of high school age to be sought to fill any emergency that might appear.

Some employees have been signed up by canning factories through the extension office's work. Others who may be used in the factories when the corn pack reaches its peak will be registered, too, Mr. Costlow said.

The corn pack is expected to become heavier the latter part of this week if favorable weather prevails. Canners have experienced no difficulty yet in handling the crop, but they are expected to call on volunteers for assistance in case of emergency.

All service clubs of the city have registered their members for work at certain hours of the day or night in case they are needed, and the Chamber of Commerce has appointed a committee to contact all business houses to learn whether they will be able to spare one or two of their employees at certain hours if they are needed to help get out the pack.

Canners and other community leaders are convinced that no matter how heavy the corn pack may become no outside labor will be needed.

STOVE RATION TO BE DISCUSSED AT STATE MEET

Plans for rationing of all domestic heating and cooking stoves which becomes effective August 24, will be discussed at a meeting in Columbus Wednesday, August 18, at 1 p. m., at the Ft. Hayes Hotel.

All furniture, hardware and appliance dealers and others handling stoves have been invited to participate in the meeting and obtain information on the stove rationing program.

Under the present stove rationing plan, coal and oil heating stoves are purchased on certificates normally valid for 30 days but these certificates will be invalid after August 23, when the new program becomes effective.

Anyone who obtains a certificate to buy a stove before August 23, but does not purchase his stove by that date, must apply for a certificate under the new order before he will be able to get his stove, OPA officials announced.

Only about fifty percent of the fuel oil users in this region have renewed their home-heating fuel oil rationing according to Charles H. Schreiber, head of the Regional Office at Cleveland.

Ration boards have mailed fuel oil renewal applications to all consumers who applied last year and coupons have been remitted.

AUTO OPERATOR LICENSES GO ON SALE SEPT. 7

Driver licenses for operating motor vehicles in Ohio from October 1, 1943, to September 30, 1944, will be put on sale Tuesday, September 17, at offices established by the Bureau of Motor Vehicles in Circleville and throughout the county and state. In Circleville, A. J. Lyle is the deputy registrar. Others are stationed in various parts of the county.

To drive after September 30, motorists must have new licenses.

Men or women on active duty in the armed forces of the United States, while on furlough, are exempt from license requirements, providing they had a license prior to entering military service.

Men or women who have been on active duty with the armed forces may get a license on presentation of an honorable discharge certificate, if there are no physical or mental disqualifications. The applicant need only have operated a motor vehicle for a year. Application must be made within six months after discharge from service.

State law provides that no person may obtain a driver license if there is pending against that person an unsatisfied judgment in a court of record, if that judgment was for wrongful death, personal injury to others, or damage to property caused by actions of the operator of the motor vehicle, unless the operator shall furnish proof of ability to satisfy the judgment.

It is pointed out that now is an opportune time for operators of all types of motor vehicles to acquaint themselves with the state's vehicle lighting regulations, imposed by the legislature. More than 5,000 copies of these regulations have been distributed to fleet owners, truckers, automobile clubs and other organizations for public guidance.

Use of any type of headlight except white on motor vehicles anywhere in Ohio is forbidden. No more amber lights as headlights will be permitted. Red lights may be used only on emergency vehicles. Flashing lights are barred except to designate right or left turns.

The vegetables will include peas, snap beans, lima beans, cut corn and spinach.

ASHVILLE

Because of the death of Prof. Elmer Rayman at Lakewood last week and of whom it is strongly claimed by those who at least think they know, that he was the first teacher of the first township high school in the state, it has brought back memories to those of that freshman class of Madison township of sixty-one years ago. Naming them, as given us by Mrs. Emma Sallady, they were Carrie Talbott, Emma Wilson, Cora Knepper, Chrissie Hines, and Ida Snelling, the last named being the only one of the five deceased.

Mrs. Lydia Brinker, widow of the late Charles Brinker and who has been quite sick at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Sam and Mrs. Haas, Columbus, is much improved and able to be up part time. . . . Mrs. Esker Miller is home again after serving time in a Columbus hospital.

Miss Cleona Dunnick, who a few weeks ago, purchased from Mrs. Wilda Barch what is known as the Briggs dwelling around near the U. B. church, will move to her new home in the near future. Miss Dunnick is an employee of the Ashville Banking Company and previous to this was the local postmistress for eight years. And prior to that service, S. C. Allison had a nine-year term of it. S. L. Smith, present P. M., operates under civil service rules—stay as long as you're good.

The boys we are naming below are members of the local school grades and sure, so they think, that they have a real ball time, good enough to wallop most any other youngster graders anywhere around in near territory. At least they are willing to try it. The names of the boys composing the team as given us, are Robert Eccard, Jimmy Ward, Bob Glick, David Kraft, Doran Topolosky, David Six, Bill Trego, Herb Pettibone, Elmer Malone, patiently waiting to record all the games they win.

Just because he has two and one-half years of it yet is no good reason at all why our Warren R. Hoffman, as told us the other day, should quit after a lot of time and hard study is passed. He graduated from high school here with the class of 1938. He is now doing research work in physiological chemistry at Ohio State for the medical school and under direction of Doctor Wyckoff. First Lieutenant Clarabel Seall, daughter of Mrs. George Seall, 114 Pinckney street, is one of the first Circleville nurses to be assigned to overseas duty, a letter to her mother revealing that she is stationed in Iceland.

"I am on an island in the Arctic Circle," Lieutenant Seall writes, "where it does not get light until between 10 and 11 o'clock in the morning and gets dark again between 2 and 3 in the afternoon. It is so cold that we wear fur coats, hoods and mittens to keep warm, and the wind blows so hard that we never get out unless there are three of us together to hold on to each other."

Lieutenant Seall's address is: N725563-92, station hospital, APO 610, care of postmaster, New York.

NEW LICENSES REQUIRED SOON FOR HUNTERS

With the deadline for use of 1942 hunting licenses approaching, the date being August 31, and with the squirrel season opening in September, shipments of new licenses are being started by the Ohio division of conservation and natural resources to dealers of Circleville and Pickaway county and throughout Ohio.

Three hundred thousand licenses have been shipped and others will be put into the mail as dealers need them.

The squirrel season will open in the southern half of the state September 15 and in the northern zone September 22, closing in both zones September 30. The bird and rabbit season will open November 19, with the pheasant, Hungarian partridge and ruffed grouse seasons extending through December 4 and the rabbit season continuing through January 11.

Resident licenses for hunting are $1, plus the 25 cent agency fee, while the non-resident license costs $15, plus the same fee.

Ohio's normal license sale is between 500,000 and 600,000. Figures recently announced show that for the year ending June 30, 1942, Ohio moved in to third place in the sale of hunting licenses, when a total of 614,106 nimrods were licensed.

ENJOY FIRST SODAS

ITHACA, N. Y.—A commission of four British agriculturalists, in this country on invitation of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, together with Prof. F. Scott Watson, associate of the British Embassy in Washington, tasted their first ice cream soda during a trip to Cornell. Dr. Carl E. Ladd, dean of the State College of Agriculture, took them on a tour of the college and experimental farms, and typical dairy farms in Tomkins and Cortland counties. They "like" the ice cream soda as well as the other things they saw," they said.

Saturday, though, if words and action mean anything, had a tendency to ease up the situation. Fred Curry, local resident, was moving toward being an applicant and nothing turning up to change his mind, he may be employed for the place and begin work at once. Whoever the janitor may be, Prince Moore, as last school year, will act as engineer and fireman.

Village council, too in session, as a part of the business up for hearing may cast lots to determine which one of their bunch is to be drafted to act as Ashville's next mayor.
